Tish Grinnel warmed up on otherwise frigid February morning with a demonstration of table settings using (flowers, china and linens, for the Community Garden Club meeting. Her arrangements were spectacular, as always. The horticultural exhibit was a plant propagation display.

Joanne Fichtner of Old Pasture Road has been selected from among Boston area choreographers to direct the dancing segments of Boston College's production Cabaret. The 12 musical numbers are separate from the book, giving Mrs. Fichtner complete artistic control of her material. A full orchestra from Berklee College will play for the musical. Lisa Fichtner has been chosen one of the Kit Kat dancers. Mrs. Fichtner was selected by the Boston College Theatre Arts dept. because of her Cohasset work with young people in 11 local productions.

At the Junior tennis tournament held at the Cohasset Tennis Club by coach Kent Van Guisen, singles boys winner was Caleb Thompson and single girls winner was Ann Lyons. The boy's prize was 2 tickets to a Bruins game and the girl's prize was two tickets to the Avon Ladies Championships.

Richard Young, a member of the CHS varsity team, celebrated his birthday with a hat trick in the Duxbury game, which led Cohasset to an 8-3 victory.

Kathy Arnold and Sylvia Hersch of the Cohasset Counseling Service spoke on Parent Effectiveness Training at the St. Paul's School.

Jack Conway has announced his million dollar sales producers in Cohasset for 1978. They are Muriel Desmond, Gerry McLean, Julie Garlius and Mary Ellen Neagel. Credited with two million dollars worth of sales was Mary Pecce. The top office for overall volume was Cohasset.

Jane Flavell Collins, well known for her outstanding courtroom drawings viewed on WGBH-TV when a major trial is in session in Boston, will present a demonstration of her work at the Norwell Public Library on Feb. 26.

Sumner Smith, Jr. of King Street, president of the board of trustees of the South Shore Hospital, welcomed the new slate of officers for 1979 at a recent meeting.

An Italian dinner will precede the Boosters Winner Sports Banquet Award Night on March 8. The award will be presented to one member of each varsity team selected by his or teammates. It will be at the High School cafeteria at 8:00 p.m.

The 22nd annual dinner dance sponsored by the Etrusco Associates will be held March 16th. This association is made up of volunteers who assisted in refloating the grounded freighter Etrusco during the St. Patrick's Day blizzard of 1957. For 20 years, the associates have maintained a hospital equipment "lending library" of crutches, wheelchairs, walkers, hospital beds and other convalescent supplies free of charge to residents of Cohasset and other South Shore communities. More than 600 pieces of this equipment were on loan during 1978. Mrs. Jean Hoogeveen, a charter member of the organization, noted that many elderly have been able to remain in their homes during illnesses because of the help provided by the Etrusco Associates.

Lloyd Spensley Jr., a Cohasset auto dealer, was elected to the Zone Council by his fellow members. Nine regional meetings will be held before the Chevrolet Dealer Council next month. The Council, founded in 1937, is organized for dealers and manufacturers to discuss areas of common interests. Spensley owns Spensley Chevrolet Inc. on Route 3A.

The CHS Jazz-Rock Ensemble, under the direction of Anthony Hyde, was awarded first place in the 2nd Annual Norwood Jazz Classic Festival. They won 2nd place in Division 2 Competition at Foxboro High School and will now go on to the State finals at Fitchburg State College on March 9th. Good luck to the CHS Jazz Ensemble!

Representatives of the churches which sponsored the BLACK NATIVITY presentation decided to give the $1200 surplus raised by the production to the Cohasset METCO Scholarship Fund, to be used to encourage higher education of METCO students attending Cohasset schools.

The TV special on depression, hosted by Dr. Timothy Johnson, brought a tremendous volume of calls to Station WCVB-TV. Dr. Shiela Baler, director of Coastal Community Counseling Center, which serves Cohasset, reminds residents that the center offers a full range of services and the 24 hours 7 days weekly emergency number is 471-0350.
